

Annual Performance Plan

2018/19 – 2020/21

Foreword by the Minister

It gives me great pleasure as the Executive Authority to submit the 2018/2019 Annual Performance Plan of the Media Development and Diversity Agency (MDDA). This report describes and details the activities the Agency plans to achieve for the period 1 April 2018 to 31 March 2019.

A free, independent and diverse media remains the lifeblood of our democracy. It ensures the right to expression of different viewpoints and rigorous public debate and, most importantly, plays a pivotal role in the reconstruction and development of our nation. Media development encapsulates promoting and creating an enabling environment to help redress exclusion and marginalisation of groups and interests from access to media - as audiences, owners, managers and producers of media. As a result, people in more places can create, distribute, access, and apply knowledge in the form of media content - and, so armed, drive development.

The role of the MDDA has never become more relevant than now, as we witness consolidation of the media houses which put a threat to diversity of views in the media space.

Therefore, more than a decade into its existence, the MDDA Act will undergo a review in an environment dominated by recent threats to media freedom and rights to editorial independence, issues which have overshadowed much needed debates about media transformation in general.

The strategic objectives that have guided the development of this Annual Performance Plan are set out clearly in the MDDA Strategic Plan for 2015/2016 - 2019/2020 (Revised). The Strategic Plan reflects the Government's long-term plans, the Medium Term Strategic Framework and subsequently the Department of Communications' political priorities.

Whereas the Strategic Plan (SP) identifies strategically important outcome orientated goals and objectives against which the MDDA's medium-term results can be measured and evaluated, the Annual Performance Plan (APP) identifies the performance indicators and targets that the Agency seeks to achieve in the upcoming budget year.

The MDDA's strategic outcome orientated goals and objectives will be achieved through key outcomes and outputs, resulting from the planned targets and activities over the next five years. This is the product of a thorough business planning process within the Agency, which takes into account both internal and external environments and their impact on the mandate of the MDDA. The process determines what is deliverable at an operational level and highlights the strategic elements to evaluate and update the Agency's SP. To this extent, the five-year Strategic Plan is supported by the Agency's APP, with strategic targets over the MTEF period.

I hereby approve and endorse this Annual Performance Plan and commit to provide the necessary leadership, guidance and support in ensuring its implementation.

Nomvula Mokonyane

4. Mandate

The Media Development and Diversity Agency (MDDA) mandate is to:

- Create an enabling environment for media development and diversity which reflects the needs and aspirations of all South Africans.
- Redress exclusion and marginalisation of disadvantaged communities and persons from access to the media and the media industry.
- Promote media development and diversity by providing support primarily to community and small commercial media projects.
- Encourage ownership and control of, and access to, media by historically disadvantaged communities as well as by historically diminished indigenous language and cultural groups.
- Encourage the development of human resources and training, and capacity building, within the media industry, especially amongst historically disadvantaged groups.
- Encourage the channelling of resources to the community media and small commercial media sectors.

- Raise public awareness with regard to media development and diversity issues.

5. Updated situational analysis

The Strategic Plan and the Annual Performance Plan of the Media Development and Diversity Agency (MDDA) are informed by:

- The socio-political and economic environment prevailing in South Africa;
- The National Development Plan (NDP) and macro environment; and
- The community media sector and the broader media environment in the print, broadcast and digital platforms.

5.1 Impact Assessment

A study of the Impact of the MDDA was commissioned in 2016 and completed in December 2017. The study was commissioned to investigate two key issues: whether the MDDA as an organisation was responding to its mandate of media development and diversity; and to assess whether community projects were having any impact on the local level.

It was concluded that the MDDA has been able to carry out different aspects of its mandate to a greater or lesser degree. Through its grant funding, the agency has channelled resources to the community and small commercial media sector and, in this way, has contributed towards the expansion of ownership and control as well as access of media to historically disadvantaged communities.

This is evidenced in the burgeoning of both community and small commercial media with radio audiences managing to reach an impressive 25% of South African audiences and print media being read by over 7 million people weekly. This media is also being published or broadcast in all indigenous languages reflecting the diverse country demographics, and training and capacity building interventions have been rolled out to support projects that have experienced gaps.

However, the study found that as much as there has been progress, limitations – both in terms of the broader media landscape and the Agency itself - have impacted the sector negatively.

Firstly, the MDDA's budget is restrictive in that the organisation receives just under half the amount required if it was to service all the proposals that it receives. Laws and regulations also determine how funding is to be allocated and, while media projects do receive the majority allocation, training and capacity building identified as a core need receives a fraction of this amount.

Project sustainability is also impacted in a number of ways. Funding criteria are vague and the media projects are not required to demonstrate how they will become self-sufficient by the end of the funding period. In addition, the MDDA has not been able to resolve the impasse with government or the commercial sector to secure advertising support for projects to enable sustainability.

Internally, MDDA has been weakened. Staff capacity to respond to challenges is poor, and many senior manager posts remain vacant. Board members have changed frequently contributing to organizational instability. Systems, such as pre-assessment, monitoring and evaluation etc., require revision so that they can be used as early warning mechanisms when projects are failing to implement in line with contract obligations.

The media landscape has also presented its own unique challenges. Economically, South Africa is in recession and there are ongoing retrenchments within the commercial media industry. Technology has further disrupted the media industry with broadcasters moving to digital platforms and the print media losing audiences to online media. Within this, media concentration has become an increasing threat.

Despite all the challenges, political parties, government and stakeholder groups still see the need to build a thriving community and small commercial sector. Media projects also present successes and opportunities against all odds. These are reflected in the long list of awards that community media projects have won for delivering excellent, relevant content, content that has been used in schools and universities and even for matric exams. Also, media projects have had significant success in training staff and volunteers and thus creating job opportunities particularly for young people. A number of projects have become sustainable over time and they have built and bought their own properties and studios. In this way, they have started to create new revenue streams critical for the long term sustainability of projects.

Overall, it was concluded that the long-term success of the sector requires that changes are made – in this instance to strengthen the MDDA so that it is able to play a role in bringing together project partners, allocating funds appropriately, and in training and developing capacity for the long-term sustainability of the sector.

Both government and stakeholders could benefit from greater collaboration and partnerships: for example, ICASA and the MDDA operate independently with ICASA issuing licenses and the MDDA funding community broadcasting. There needs to be closer collaboration between the agencies so as to ensure that media development and diversity targets are set and reached. Strong partnerships with government department will also help unlock advertising support (GCIS / DoC) and training funding (SETAs; NSF).

Stakeholders expressed the need to partner so that they can have maximum developmental impact within the sector. Suggestions included: more formal meetings with the MDDA; representation on the MDDA board; greater transparency when supporting projects; and joint strategic planning sessions to improve outreach and success rates.

6. External environment

6.1. Political imperatives

The current political environment suggests that the MDDA will continue to operate within the legislative and policy framework adopted by Government as reflected through the NDP, Medium-Term Strategic Framework and the Medium-Term Expenditure Framework.

Media development and diversity form part of the priorities Government is pursuing. To this extent, there is recognition that much still needs to be done to deepen media transformation and ensure that disadvantaged communities directly partake in all aspects of media development and management.

The Minister of Communications has announced the intention to review the MDDA's mandate as outlined by the MDDA Act. This review takes place in an environment where there is a growing political need to accelerate media transformation.

In 2014 the State President determined that the MDDA's Executive Authority will be the Minister of Communications and no longer the Minister in the Presidency. Preparation of the strategic and annual performance plans has therefore sought to ensure alignment with the Department of Communications' priorities.

6.2 Economic imperatives

In the past three years, the South African economy has been performing weaker than expected and growth had slowed. Panellists participating in the Focus Economics Consensus Forecast projected that the economy will grow 1.4% in 2018.

The Finance Minister, Malusi Gigaba commented in his first National Address and stated that, "The overarching message of these policies is that we need to radically transform the South African economy, such that it works for all South Africans, including those who have been and still continue to this day to be marginalised – the working people and the poor, black people in general, women and youth. There needs not to be a contradiction between inclusive growth and radical economic transformation; there can be no economic progress that leaves the majority of our people behind."

There has been slow progress in the transformation of the media industry as the bulk of the market share is still owned by the commercial broadcasters and print media houses. Community media has gradually increased its market share of advertising revenue over the years but is still plagued with issues relating to sustainability of the sector.

The media consumer has changed dramatically, and this shift requires innovative media owners who can respond to the changing media landscape to remain sustainable.

6.3 Social imperatives

At the social level, South Africa continues to be plagued by issues of unemployment, poverty, and inequality, including lack of social cohesion and increasing service delivery protests.

The NDP Vision 2030 targets a drop of unemployment levels from 27% in 2011 to 14% by 2020, requiring the creation of eleven million (11 000 000) jobs. It also seeks for the proportion of working adults to increase from 41% to 61% in the same period. Black youth constitute the major proportion of the unemployment rate. Supporting youth owned and managed community media projects is a focus area of the MDDA in the delivery of its mandate, with job creation and upskilling being positive spin-offs of the financial and non-financial support the MDDA provides to its beneficiary projects.

The NDP 2030 points out that, whilst global integration has brought about sustained growth, it has also been marked by negative trends. It points out that the gap between the rich and the poor worsened globally from 0.44 in 1950 to 0.54 in 2000. This is projected to rise going forward. To curtail that, one of the non-negotiable goals to be achieved by 2030 is a reduction in inequality as measured by the Gini coefficient, from 0.69 to 0.6.

Media literacy and numeracy remain a challenge in South Africa, in spite of major changes and achievements that have been reported in the increase of literacy rates in general. This limitation inhibits media diversification and undermines efforts to promote democratic participation and development of disadvantaged communities. There is a greater role for the MDDA in sharing information and knowledge with these communities through a wide range of media platforms and in developing these communities to be knowledge centres and instruments of self-empowerment.

6.4 Technological imperatives

Rapid technological advancements have promoted change across the globe and South Africa is not immune. There are two key challenges for the MDDA's broadcasting stakeholders, digital migration where digital terrestrial television (DTT) requires members to have the equipment and capacity to compete in a digital environment and Digital Audio Broadcasting (DAB), which offers additional services that combine broadcasting and the internet on the same device.

There are early indications that the migration will not be without cost for the MDDA's stakeholders, with increased costs for transmitters already being identified by community television stations. The costs include ensuring a good balance of local content, as well as available cheaper content that services a public mandate. The MDDA must ensure that the new technology's benefits are not outweighed by its costs.

Breaking news is now digital. The increasing trend is for stories to be first told on social media before migrating to legacy platforms such as print, radio and television. This means that print media needs more support in an everchanging print landscape that competes with online media, including social media.

Community media - like their mainstream colleagues - need business models to sustain these new forms of storytelling. The MDDA's role is vital before, during and after migration to ensure that community media's interests are identified, fought for and maintained.

Financial and non-financial support currently provided by the MDDA to its beneficiaries includes support for online streaming and web-based news platforms as an important focus area.

6.5 Environmental imperatives

The NDP 2030 commits South Africa to reducing its dependency on carbon, natural resources and energy, while balancing this transition with its objectives of increasing employment and reducing inequality and poverty through adaptation and mitigation. Adaptation includes significant investments in new and adaptive technologies and rehabilitating and restoring natural ecosystems to improve resilience and mitigate climate change.

The MDDA has a role to play in promoting and supporting these global and national initiatives in its messages and technologies and those of its beneficiaries, as well as promoting recyclable technologies and discouraging unfriendly environmental practices.

6.6 Financial perspective

The strategic objective for this perspective is to strengthen, grow and protect the MDDA funding base. The MDDA currently receives funding from the Department of Communications and from broadcasters via the USAF levy.

The revenue of the MDDA has however been affected by the fact that the four largest print media owners have withdrawn their funding, indicating the need to determine the impact of their funding before committing to a new funding agreement. This funding gap results in a decrease in the number of small commercial media projects able to be funded by the Agency. The budgeted revenue will be achieved by ensuring that legislated submissions to National Treasury are submitted in time within the agreed framework and protocols. The MDDA will also continue to engage with the print media who have indicated that they will base any further funding decisions on the outcomes of the Impact Study of the MDDA.

An effective funding strategy will also be an important focus area with the objective of significantly broadening the funding base and lessening the dependence of the MDDA on its traditional funders.

The financial management and internal control systems of the MDDA will be upgraded to ensure that expenditure is kept within budget and that variations to actual budget are kept within the 8% range either way at the worst-case scenario.

6.7 Stakeholder perspective

The MDDA delivers its work through strategic partnerships with other government departments, industry bodies and stakeholders. The partnership principle as articulated in the National Communication Strategy Framework 2014-2019 is to deliver output-based programmes that contribute to innovative products and services that delight stakeholder expectations. In this regard, the Agency aligns its performance programmes to contribute towards the realisation of key priorities of the NDP.

Through the community radio support programme, the Agency will continue to provide digital broadcast equipment to ensure access to this valuable communication platform in communities. Partnerships with ICASA as a broadcast regulator and SENTECH as a signal distributor, remain key to enhancing uninterrupted community broadcast services that provide the majority of South Africans with access to information and a platform to express themselves and contribute to participatory democracy.

As part of the media diversity mandate, the Agency will work in partnership with industry bodies such as NAB, the NCRF and AIP to create sustainable models for grassroots and independent media that are owned by small and medium enterprises (SMME) and are produced in indigenous languages.

6.8 Business process perspective

The strategic objective is to strengthen MDDA processes, systems and procedures. As a media development agency, the MDDA should lead compliance and accountability measures.

The Agency's monitoring and evaluation framework will be revised to ensure that grant funded projects are compliant with the relevant funding agreements and that all identified gaps in the monitoring process are corrected to give effect to the planned impact.

A Human Resources Information Management System (HRIMS) will be implemented in order to ensure that there is accuracy of personnel data.

The MDDA is currently at 70% capacity, with a new organizational structure having been approved by the Board to ensure that the Agency has the appropriate knowledge-based skills to continue to deliver on its mandate in a rapidly changing environment. This includes skills that will enable the Agency to assist the community media in this digital era. The objective is to fill all vacancies by the beginning of the 2018/2019 financial year. All positions included in the structure are funded.

6.9 Learning and growth perspective

The MDDA is focused on establishing and nurturing an environment conducive to learning, growth and development.

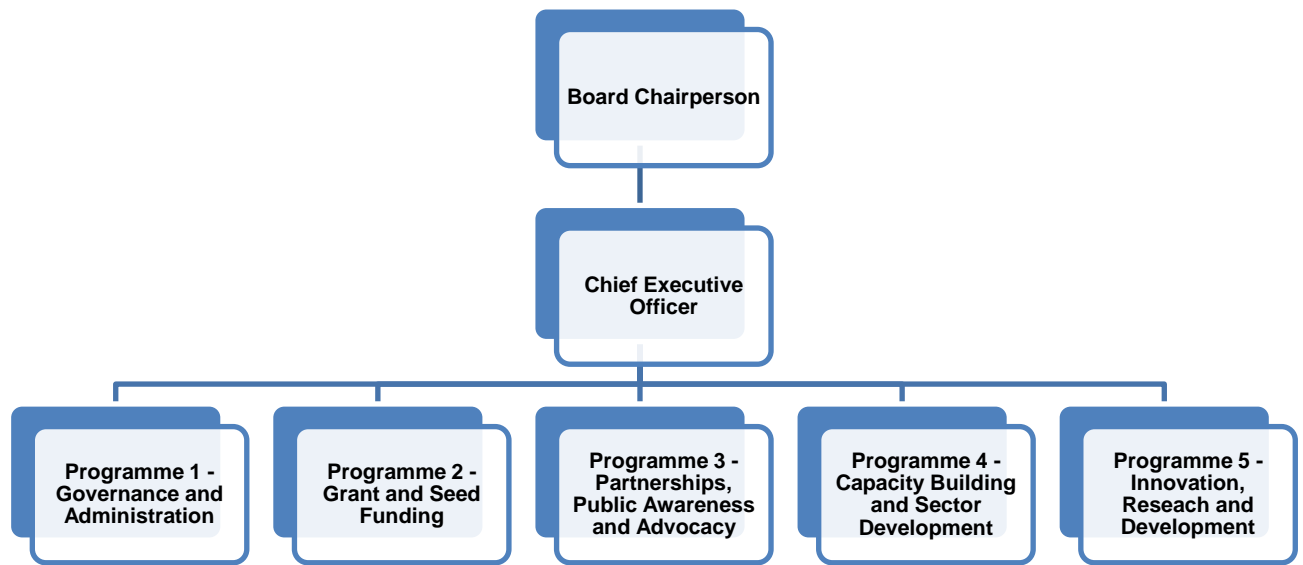

7. Internal environment

The enabling legislative environment and the positioning of the MDDA in the Department of Communications present it with an opportunity to reach wider audiences and entrenches the relevance of its value proposition. The core of the MDDA are the Programmes - Grant and Seed Funding, Capacity Building and Sector Development and Innovation, Research and Development.

In light of the changing media landscape, including the migration to digital, to which the MDDA strategy is aligned, the structure was reviewed to provide internal capacity that strengthens its ability to deliver on its mandate and the evolving requirements of the media landscape. Such changes potentially elevate the accountability of various programmes as well as include expertise to guide and direct the MDDA's strategic and policy making role.

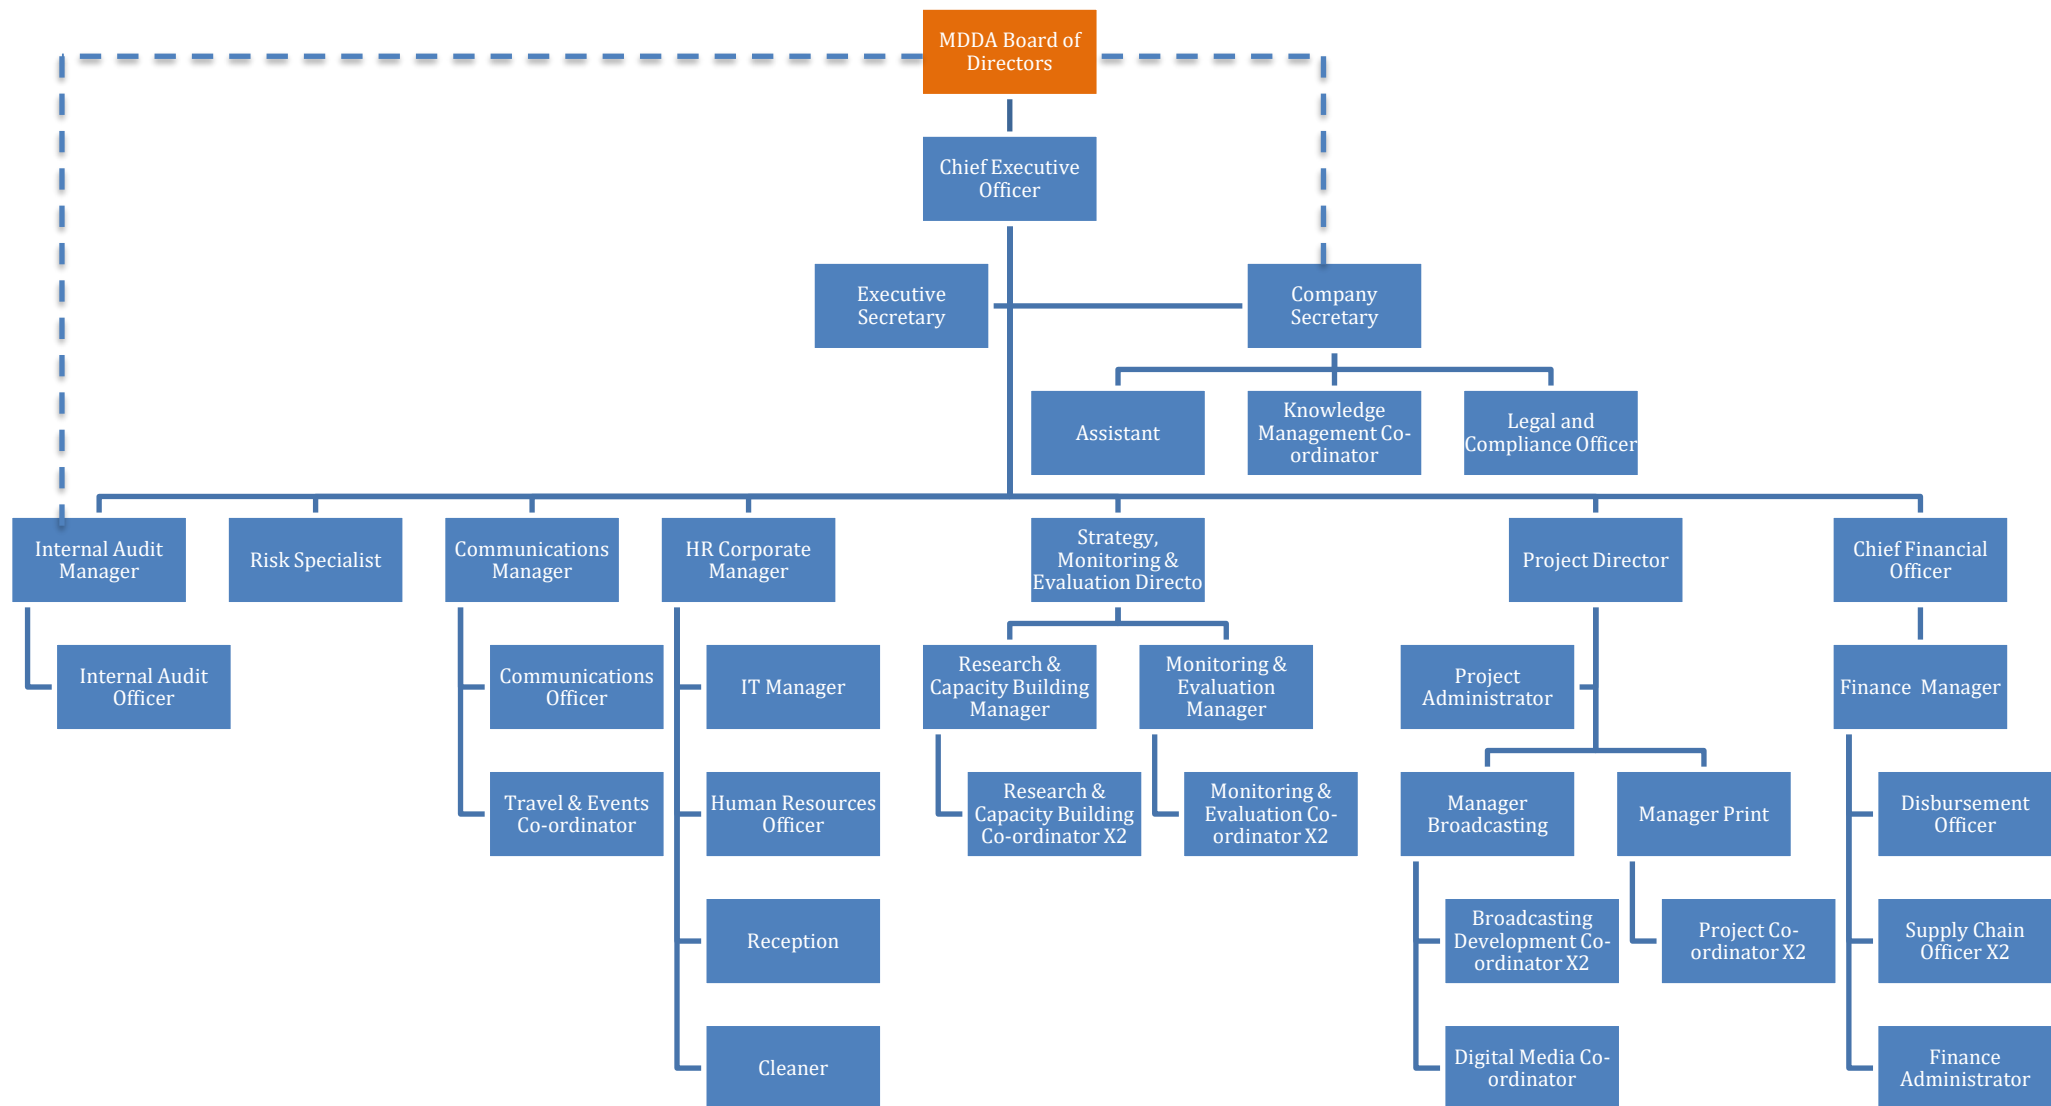

7.1 MDDA Programme Structure

The MDDA programme structure comprises five programmes, as shown below. Programme 2: Grant and Seed Funding is the core activity in delivery of the MDDA mandate.

7.2 MDDA Organizational Structure

The MDDA organizational structure has been designed to transition the MDDA into a knowledge-based organization, with the capacity, resources and skills to lead the debate and developments around media diversity, in line with its mandate.

7.4 Expenditure analysis as per ENE

The National Development Plan - Vision 2030 (NDP) informs the Medium Term Strategic Framework (MTSF) priorities. The latter is Government's three-year implementation phase of the National Development Plan and is structured around 14 priority outcomes. Outcome 6 (an efficient, competitive and responsive economic infrastructure network), outcome 12 (an efficient, responsive and development-oriented public service) and outcome 14 (a diverse, socially cohesive society with a common national identity) speak to the MDDA's approach to developing a robust and sustainable community media sector in pursuance of its mandate.

Over the medium term, the agency's service delivery priority will be on encouraging media diversity in a rapidly changing telecommunications environment. Its core activities will continue to be financial and non-financial support of community broadcast and community and small commercial print projects. This will cover grant funding to strengthen existing projects and enhance their sustainability, and to fund new projects, with an emphasis on the promotion of indigenous languages and making a contribution to community development and the alleviation of poverty and inequality. Financial support through grant funding initiatives will be R133 million over the medium term. The MDDA is actively trying to build relationships with key stakeholders to enable it to increase the financial resources available to the community media sector. The positive impact will add to the funds set aside over the MTEF for community media. The agency aims to support around 120 projects over the medium term.

The MDDA will focus its capacity building initiatives on supporting content generation by the community media, as well addressing other urgent needs of the sector, such as governance training, in an effort to further ensure its sustainability. Over the medium term, some 120 projects will be capacitated to assist in closing the skills gaps in these various areas.

Community broadcast grants account for 47 per cent of the agency's total budget over the medium term, while overall spending on print and digital and community broadcast projects is expected to decrease by an average of 5.4 per cent over the medium term as a result of no funding from print media.

Total funding to the Agency' by the Department of Communications is expected to be R99 million over the medium term. The agency no longer receives funding from the print media but is engaging the sector in order to revive this revenue stream. Broadcast funders will provide an average of R97 million over the medium term. Continued stakeholder engagement and lobbying initiatives are being carried out to ensure the MDDA is financially empowered to achieve and make significant impact in line with its mandate.

7.5 Resource considerations

The programmes' budgets for the period 2018/19 to 2021/22 have been projected based on and linked to the performance indicators and targets for the said five-year period.

In the Administration Programme, it is anticipated that skills will be retained in house and that the current approved positions and number of positions should remain stable over this period.

In the Grant and Seed Funding Programme, it is anticipated that the number of community broadcast as well as community and small commercial media projects requesting start-up or strengthening funding will increase. This is particularly so with the successful digital migration programme of the Department of Communications. The major portion of the budget will be directed towards such funding. Project staff will be retained in house with minimal expenditure required to source external consultants.

The Advocacy and Lobbying Programme will see increasing partnerships being established with stakeholders in the delivery of its strategic objectives. While the number of interventions will increase, these will be carried out and funded jointly through these partnerships. Skills will be retained in house.

The number of studies and research projects funded by the Research Programme is expected to remain stable over the five-year period with the major portion of the budget directed towards consultants undertaking this research.

The Capacity Building Programme will see increasing focus on training of community media through partnerships with stakeholders and training providers. The major portion of the budget will be directed towards training providers for capacitating community media.

8. Legislative and other mandate

8.1 Constitutional Mandate

Whilst not specifically mentioned in the Constitution, the MDDA's mandate is intended to enable realisation of various provisions in this legislation (i.e. Constitution). Relevant provisions in this regard are sections 6, 15, 16, 30 and 32.

Section 16 (1) (a) to (c), which focus on freedom of expression, state that "everyone has the right to freedom of expression, which includes freedom of the press and other media; freedom to receive or impart information or idea; and freedom of artistic creativity". This right is made conditional under section 16 (2) (a) to (c), which require its realisation not to extend to "propaganda for war; incitement of imminent violence; or advocacy of hatred that is based on race, ethnicity, gender or religion, and that constitutes incitement to cause harm."

Section 32 (1) (a) and (b) give further expression which relates to the MDDA, stating that "Everyone has the right of access to any information held by the state; and any information that is held by another person and that is required for the exercise or protection of any rights."

Section 32 (2) further requires that “national legislation must be enacted to give effect to this right, and may provide for reasonable measures to alleviate the administrative and financial burden on the state.”

Section 15 (1), which focuses on freedom of religion, belief and opinion, determines that “Everyone has the right to freedom of conscience, religion, thought, belief and opinion.”

A further provision which relates to the MDDA’s mandate is section 6 (2) as it states “Recognizing the historically diminished use and status of the indigenous languages of our people, the state must take practical and positive measures to elevate the status and advance the use of these languages.” This is amplified by section 31 (1) (a) and (b), which determine that “Persons belonging to a cultural, religious or linguistic community may not be denied the right, with other members of that community to enjoy their culture, practise their religion and use their language; and to form, join and maintain cultural, religious and linguistic associations and other organs of civil society.”

8.2 Legislative Mandates

The MDDA’s establishment and mandate is primarily set out through the Media Development and Diversity Act no. 14 of 2002. This legislation’s purpose is “to establish the Media Development and Diversity Agency; to provide for its objective and functions; to provide for the constitution of the Board and the management of the Agency by the Board; to provide for the chief executive officer and other staff of the Agency; to provide for the finances of the Agency; and to provide for the support of projects aimed at promoting media development and diversity.”

Secondarily, the MDDA must also ensure adherence to the Electronic Communication Act no. 35 of 2005, the Public Finance Management Act No.1 of 1999 (PFMA) and the Promotion of Administrative Justice Act.No.3 of 2000 (PAJA), as these concern promotion of media diversity and development, good and accountable governance and the administration of justice.

The Independent Communications Authority of South Africa Act, Act no. 13 of 2000, as amended, which gives ICASA the power to grant; renew; amend; transfer; and revoke licences, also impacts the MDDA as financial support is only granted to those broadcast projects that have acquired a licence from ICASA.

8.3 Policy Mandates

8.3.1 Findings of Task Group on Government Communication (Comtask)

The establishment of the Media Development and Diversity Agency was enabled through Cabinet’s adoption – with amendments – of the report of the Task Group on Government

Communication (also referred to as Comtask). This report therefore constitutes the initial policy directive of government on the need to establish the MDDA and under which conditions.

8.3.2 Department of Communication Policy Framework

The establishment of the Department of Communications follows the gazette of Proclamation, No. 47 of 15 July 2014 in which the State President approved the transfer of powers and functions to the Minister of Communications. The department's mandate was consequently defined as:

- Develop an overarching communications and broadcasting policy and strategy.
- Provide information dissemination and publicity to promote an informed citizenry.

Informed by these, the Department of Communication set itself the following strategic goals:-

- A responsive communications policy and regulatory environment.
- Improved government communications and country branding.
- Improved capacity of the department and its entities to deliver.
- Transformed communications sector.

As an entity under the Department, and therefore in furtherance of its mandate and strategic goals, the MDDA serves as a statutory organ established to foster the promotion of and ensuring media development and diversity in South Africa. The mandate of the Agency is therefore enshrined in law and aims to:

- Create an enabling environment for media development and diversity which reflects the needs and aspirations of all South Africans.
- Redress exclusion and marginalisation of disadvantaged communities and persons from access to the media and the media industry.
- Promote media development and diversity by providing support, primarily to community and small commercial media projects.

8.3.3 Medium Term Strategic Framework

The National Development Plan - Vision 2030 (NDP) informs the Medium Term Strategic Framework (MTSF) priorities. The latter is Government's three-year implementation phase of the National Development Plan and is structured around fourteen (14) priority outcomes, which cover focus areas identified in the NDP and election manifesto of the governing party.

The aim of the MTSF is to ensure policy coherence, alignment and coordination across government's plans, including the alignment of budgeting processes. It builds on the work done between 2009 and 2014 and is also inclusive of experiences and learnings gained.

Outcomes six (6), twelve (12) and fourteen (14) of the MTSF are relevant to the MDDA:

Outcome 6 relates to an efficient, competitive and responsive economic infrastructure network. This highlights the role of the MDDA in assisting community media to harness the power of a rapidly changing telecommunications environment.

Outcome 12 relates to an efficient, effective and development orientated public service. This speaks to the character and nature of the MDDA as an institution and the values it should champion.

Outcome 14 relates to nation building and social cohesion as it envisions a society where South Africans will be more conscious of what they have in common than their differences. It directs the MDDA's approach when supporting and enabling content and production elements.

8.3.4 Other Relevant Policy Prescripts

The MDDA's approach to media development and diversification must also remain consistent with policy prescripts that may not be directly intended to influence the Agency's operations. To that extent, it is also prudent for the MDDA to remain updated about how these affect its mandate and whether there is a need to advocate for any specific amendments.

In particular, MDDA is affected by the following:-

- Independent Broadcasting Authority Triple Inquiry Report;
- White Paper on Broadcasting Policy;
- Community Television Broadcasting Services Position Paper;
- Regulations of the Independent Communication Authority of South Africa;
- ICT Policy White Paper.

8.4 Relevant court rulings

There are three court rulings specifically related to the MDDA.

Name	Case number	Short description	Status
Julia Mudzikwa vs MDDA	GAJB88316-13	Labour matter. Correct procedure was allegedly not followed in the retrenchment process	Parties signed a settlement agreement
K Media Group vs MDDA	36321/1-17	Conceptual dispute concerning release of funds for purchase of broadcast equipment	MDDA has filed rescission judgment application
NICODIMUS Serunya Molefi and Others versus Minister of		Nicodimus Serunya Molefe as the former Chairperson of Village FM Radio Community Station together with other three founding members made an application to the High Court requesting current management of Village FM Radio Community Station	The Department of Communications has requested the Office of the State Attorney to proceed with court application to

Communications and Others		and Sentech to redirect or release the radio frequency to Madikwe Resource Centre.	demand the equipment
---------------------------	--	--	----------------------

The MDDA has to always remain conscious and informed of court rulings as they affect its stakeholders. These have to be always evaluated in relation to their impact on the Agency's mandate and what therefore its most appropriate response should be.

12 Programme 4: Capacity building and sector development

Purpose: One of the objectives of the Agency outlined in the MDDA Act of 2002 is to “encourage the development of human resources, training and capacity building within the media industry, especially amongst historically disadvantaged groups”. In response to this, the Agency has developed capacity building programmers, which aim to provide community and small commercial media with necessary skills needed for effective performance in day to day work.

13 Programme 5: Innovation, Research and Development

Purpose: The MDDA Act 14 of 2002 on Section 3 (VI) outlines the objectives of the Agency to include (amongst others) to “encourage research regarding media development and diversity”. There is also a lack of research and information specific to the sectors that inform programme development and strategic focus (e.g. not much information on the number of indigenous language newspapers in SA, number of readers of such newspapers, etc.).
